

Marion County Employment Soon To Reach 11,450 Total

Marion county employment in 363 firms covered by the Ohio unemployment compensation law should soon reach 11,450—up 2,350, or 26 per cent, from last September. Employment in 332 firms similarly covered in Hardin and Wyandot counties is expected to increase 550, or 16 per cent, from September to exceed 4,100.

Major Marion county gains will occur in the 51 manufacturing firms, which expect to add 2,100. Most of this gain is anticipated in the 10 non-electrical machinery manufacturing firms, which plan to add 1,900. Smaller gains are expected in construction, transportation and utilities, wholesale and retail trade, finance, insurance, and real estate, and service.

These trends are shown by the "post-war employment survey" recently released by the U. S. employment service in Ohio and the bureau of unemployment compensation. Due to the effects of recent labor-management disputes and shortages of materials, it appears that the attainment of anticipated employment levels may be temporarily postponed.

Six Major Firms Up

Employment in the six major firms increased 3.8 per cent over February. The slight gain was due primarily to the reemployment of returning veterans. Since labor-management disputes have been settled a greater rise in employment is anticipated, however, the availability of materials remains an important factor affecting production increases. The following figures show the gradual upward trend in employment in the six industries over the last six-month period.

	Oct 15 Nov 15 Dec 15 Jan 15 Feb 15 Mar 15
Total Employment	3,010 3,061 3,087 4,075 4,116 4,274

Veterans	247 263 427 627 669 737

Available workers registered with the Marion USES office increased one-sixth from March 1, 1945, to April 1. In this period, men job-seekers rose one-fourth to 700. Women job-seekers increased slightly to 400. Veterans seeking jobs increased one-fourth, to 580. Four out of every five men job-seekers are veterans.

1,130 Still in Service

About 1,130 Marion county veterans out of 5,000 are still in service. Many of these veterans will want new jobs others, in returning to their previous positions, will displace non-veterans. The USES is urging that all employers in the area cooperate in placing their orders for workers in the local office in order that the utmost service be given these servicemen and displaced war workers. It is necessary to have varied jobs on file in the local office to match with the returning youth's traits, aptitudes and interests in order to place him in the job for which he is best fitted or can best be trained, and to match, also, with the qualifications and interests of other available job seekers, in order to place them in the positions which they can fill most successfully to both the employer and employer's advantage.

A considerable number of employers in the office area are taking advantage of the on-the-job training program for veterans. This program is not only beneficial to the veteran but to the employer as well, training workers within his establishment who will become valuable employees. Additional information can be secured from the Veteran Employment Representative in the Marion USES office.

overthrow of the five vital decisions of the all-party peoples consultative (unity) council: decisions to which the Communists had agreed.
That action led to the revival of civil strife in Manchuria. Distrust, suspicion and fear replaced the Communist attitude of hopefulness for a united China.
On the other side and quite apart from the reactionary group in the Kuomintang, men in the party with liberal leanings began to voice uneasiness over Russia's role in Manchuria. They said that somehow that great power had aligned herself with the Communists to maintain a sphere of influence in the northeast.
That this attitude was backed

Already Has Influence
Some Kuomintang leaders also seemed to lose sight of the fact Russia certainly did not need either armies or Communists to exert influence in Manchuria.
Under the terms of the Sino-Soviet pact signed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Russia shares in the administration of the great rail lines which dominate the area and two of its vital ports, Dairen and Port Arthur. It would be hard to see how she could improve on that situation.
A number of possibilities have been suggested by neutral observers. One is for Russia to ally any and all fears about Manchuria after a conference with the United States. That would be the external approach. A second would be for Chiang to abolish the secret police, suppress terrorists whose success can be seen daily in Manchuria, and then make a personal guarantee that the decisions of the unity council will be carried out to the letter.

G.O.P. Outlook Pleases Ohioan

Cong. Brown Says Party Will Concentrate on Seats Before Presidency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 3.—With a flourish of optimism about the results, Ohio's Clarence J. Brown says the Republicans are out to win congressional seats in this year's elections before talking about 1948.

The big congressman from Cincinnati, chairman of the G.O.P. executive committee and director of the party's congressional campaign, leaves no doubt about the way he thinks.

He said in an interview the party strategy did not involve discussion of prospective 1948 presidential candidates, among them former Governor John W. Bricker and Senator Robert A. Taft.

"The executive committee," Brown said, "is working to elect Republicans in this year's elections. We are using all the party's energies to win the house and the senate and we are not being sidetracked by talk about the presidential sweepstakes."

But he added: "If any aspirant for President can better his own chances through service to the party in 1946, all well and good. "This is the year for all Republicans to join ranks, forget personal ambitions and think only of the welfare of the country and party victory in 1948."

Brown might have been Republican national chairman, but he declined to be a candidate when he appeared the job would require his resignation from congress.

The chairmanship, vacated by Herbert Brownell, went to Brown's friend, Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.).

"I like congress," Brown said. "And I wouldn't quit even for the honor of being national chairman."

While Brown wants the G.O.P. to win everywhere, he is particularly interested in the outcome in the Buckeye state.

Without mentioning names, he predicted "We'll win two or three seats in Ohio. Personally, I think it will be three, but at least two."

RAILROADS

higher wages and changes in working rules.

After conferences with the carriers all the unions except the trainmen and engineers agreed to accept the working rules dispute temporarily and arbitrate on wages. The trainmen and engineers refused to join, called a strike and had their dispute carried to an emergency fact-finding board under the National (Railway) Mediation act.

The arbitration board on April 3 ordered the carriers to grant the employees agreeing to arbitration an increase of $1.28 a day. They had asked for $2.50. Granting of today's new demands would bring wages to within 2 cents of the original demands.

Representatives of the employees, the unions said in their statement, consider the $1.28 award "wholly inadequate" because it was based entirely on increased cost of living and no consideration was given to "gross inequities, increased standard of living and increased productivity."

30-Day Leeway
Goff said under provisions of the law governing controversies between railroad labor and management initial conferences on the demand must start within 30 days and national conferences shortly after the expiration of that period.

Meanwhile, representatives of the trainmen and engineers, who walked out of yesterday's conference, maintained they would not return until they were offered "something substantial."

These two unions have announced dissatisfaction with the findings of the emergency board and called a strike of their 280,000 members for May 18. The board recommended an increase of 10 cents an hour and some changes in working rules, or a bonus of $1.28 for an eight-hour day.

The conference with the carrier representatives was arranged to negotiate on the fact-finding panel's proposals.

CHICAGO DIMS OUT TO SAVE ELECTRICITY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 3.—Chicago was in a state of emergency and very much confused today as the full impact of an order curtailing use of electricity struck all phases of business and industry.

Warlike darkness returned to the nation's second largest city last night and to hundreds of communities in two thirds of Illinois as lights blinked out under the emergency dimouts by the Illinois commerce commission.

Twenty-two northern Indiana counties, including the big steel-producing Calumet area, were under a similar order by the Indiana public service commission.

The commission reiterated a warning that violation of the order directing industry to use electricity 24 hours a week and commercial users, including stores and theaters, from 2 to 6 p. m. from Monday through Saturday, would result in power being turned off.

Kenneth A. Robinson has been a practicing attorney and member of the firm of Wilhelm & Robinson, attorneys, Marion, Ohio, since 1937. A graduate of Marion City schools, Harding High School, and Ohio Northern University, he has been active in politics, and was formerly City Solicitor of Marion. He served in the armed forces from April, 1942, to November, 1945, and is the only Marion County veteran of World War II seeking nomination at the Republican Primary May 7th.

He is opposed for the nomination by the present incumbent, Earl E. Thomas, who is seeking his seventh successive nomination as the Republican candidate for this office.

Robinson's experience as a city official and practicing attorney well qualifies him for the office he is seeking. He promises the voters courtesy, cooperation and fair treatment, and assures the Republican party of a candidate who will conduct a vigorous and constructive campaign in the fall election. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Police Dance Set As Playground Benefit

A dance, 50 per cent of the proceeds of which will go toward operating playgrounds in this summer, was planned at a meeting of Marion County Lodge of Fraternal Order of Police Wednesday night.

The dance will be held at Crystal Lake pavilion Thursday night, June 6. E. H. Hoffman, chairman of the social committee, said today. Other members of the committee are V. H. Campbell and L. W. Shadaker.

Hoffman said the decision to add the playgrounds was made when it was announced last week by the Marion Recreation commission that only three playgrounds would be operated this summer. Seven were operated last year. However, the Marion Community Foundation, which has financed the playground program for the last four years, is unable to continue this aid and the city treasury has no funds for recreation.

Century-Old Marlboro Cemetery's 3,400 Graves To Be Moved From Dam Flood Area

Transfer Will Not Be Necessary for Year or More; New Burial Site Not Definitely Chosen.

By AUSTIN E. SHOWMAN

More than a century's history will be altered when the Marlboro cemetery, lying in the Delaware dam flood area, is removed, according to construction engineers. It will not be a year, and perhaps longer. Cemetery officials believe it will be moved, and until then it will continue at the present site.

Marlboro's office said yesterday that the cemetery is being considered for removal. The cemetery does not flood stage area. Elevation there is 100 feet, which is believed to be the cemetery under water during heavy rains.

There has been no definite site for the new cemetery, although reports say one site is near the Horseburg road. Cemetery officials said they know where the new site will be.

The uncertainty of the new site for the 3,400 graves, no opinion as to what objections as to what to them. Some of the graves there more than 100 years old and their only value is in the dates of their death, scarcely readable on the oldest graves.

One of the oldest graves is that of the 1820's although the caretaker of the cemetery maintains a few are older than that. The names are worn away, Mr. Worline said.

Grading Work Underway
The Olentangy dam is planned as a flood control and conservancy project to impound waters of the Olentangy river to control flood flows into the Scioto and Ohio rivers. Since the official groundbreaking ceremonies two weeks ago, considerable grading has been done in the area where Gov. Frank J. Lausche turned the first spadeful of dirt.

WAR HERO OPPOSES DILLON DAM PLANS

By The Associated Press

NASHPORT, O., May 3.—Melvin Mayfield, the Nashport farmer who only last Sunday was decorated with the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in the Philippines, disclosed yesterday his farm is one of those that will be flooded if the Dillon dam project is carried out on the Licking river.

Mayfield, who recently bought eight acres and planned to farm that with 179 acres owned by his father, said "it looks like they took us away from our homes to fight the war and now that we're back they are going to take our homes away from us."

Mayfield said he had planned to build a home on his eight acre tract for himself and his bride of five months.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the congress of the United States and the president should be broadminded enough to understand the people's viewpoint in the valley on the Dillon dam project."

The Licking Valley Protective association, opposing the dam project, has suggested that, as an alternate, 13 small dams be built in the river and Mayfield said he was in favor of that project.

His father, I. W. Mayfield, who operates a sawmill nearby, said he gave up farming because of his age and that his sawmill also would be wiped out if the dam project is approved.

"If they take the sawmill, I'm done for," he said. "If the government goes ahead with the dam it will be the greatest wrong that could be done to us here in the valley."

The younger Mayfield, who was wounded three times in battle, said one leg wound still bothers him.

He said he had planned to obtain lumber from his father's sawmill to build the house on his farm.

He was given the Congressional Medal of Honor in ceremonies at the Ohio State University stadium and was the guest of the army for a two-day stay in Columbus.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN HUNDENSEN, M.D.

Social Handicap

For some people excessive perspiration is not only a nuisance but a real social and economic handicap. In these cases, sweating, particularly under the armpits, is very profuse and there is likely to be an offensive odor. This condition is known as bromidrosis.

Various preparations can be used in check sweating, but in these severe cases such treatment gives but slight relief and even that is only temporary. X-ray treatment has been attempted but this does not always work either.

Dr. Keith Kahn of New York City, has treated a number of patients with this condition by means of an operation in which the glands in the armpit, which secrete the sweat, are removed.

Before doing the operation he gives the patient a dose of potassium iodide. Then the armpit is dusted with starch.

In from five to fifteen minutes iodine appears in the perspiration and when this combines with the starch, it makes a blue color. This dark-colored area on the skin is then outlined with some dye or stain.

It is interesting that this area varies in people among the two sexes. In men, the area is inclined to be oblong, and in woman oval in shape. The more limited the area, the greater is the chance for relief by means of the operation. If the area is too large, complete removal of the gland is not possible.

Great care must be taken in performing this operation because if too much tissue is removed, a scar may form which will limit the movement of the arm.

Furthermore, following removal of the tissue, a skin graft must be done to prevent deformity. Hence, it is only the most active glands which are removed at the time of operation.

In carrying out the operation, the hairy region of the armpit is shaved, and antiseptic such as iodine and alcohol are applied. After the operation, the wound is covered with gauze soaked in 70 per cent alcohol and then a dry dressing applied which is held in place by adhesive tape.

On the fourth or fifth day, the dressing is changed for the first time, and then every other day until healing is complete. Healing in this region of the skin is usually slow.

Following operation, X-ray treatments may be employed, but they should be mild and carried out by an expert, so as to avoid any danger of X-ray burns.

Of course, such radical treatment would appear advisable only in the most severe cases of bromidrosis. Milder cases can be more satisfactorily treated in simpler ways.

Although it cannot be pronounced except as an epithet, the word is not used in an epithetic sense or as it signifies the opposite of what the United Nations Organization understands for, the mystery surrounding its origin may be worth pursuing by authorities who have better facilities than I.

Further, it is not accurate to describe that is going on now in the world organization. The present New York meeting is an assemblage of the United Nations security council, why not call it UN-5? uniformly and some newsmen wrote a story which got printed in a daily paper recommending UNCTAD as the official organization to handle this kind standard. Officially on this kind standard. Official authority like me they had an impulse to make initially, corresponding to U. S. for United States, but U. S. is eminently ill-ling for us because we are us.

This all sounds like nonsense to me. UNCTAD had long since evolved into UNCTAD. Sufficiently uniformly had been achieved. United was of little to enable it to stand. It was standing. So I still ask the question. Who wanted to tear it

One never passes to the left. It is a man's unfailing optimism that makes an 80-year-old feel that he has a hundred thousand dollars worth of whistles left in his system.

Besides, a man his age should have learned a snailier approach. Why? And why not call things by accurate names and labels? You hear now some of their build-up. In the past, the body of water known as Lake Success, New York, was called Lake Success. Now it will have to be called Lake Success. Success depends no doubt on how much UNO can be put into it.

Shintoism Far from Dead

PROCESSION of Shintoists at an ancestral shrine in Japan.

the Shinto secret organization with its 100,000 members, they discovered a suicide platoon of 40 young men pledged to kill one of their own and an assistant of their own, both pledged to assist the volunteers. These two Shinto members, both of whom were Japanese-born, were ordered to attempt to spread the news of Japan's defeat.

Police said the terrorists worked by infiltrating a community where a "traitor" lives. After killing their victim they leave the yellow caps of their order nearby the body.

Police said some of the leaders are suspected of inciting the recent conspiracy to murder a U.S. officer in Japan, and in order to obtain more arms.

"We are in favor of legally deporting any alien who is disloyal to the United States, whether he is a Christian or a Japanese," he said. "The religion of ancestors does not have consideration of any kind."

"The Japanese calmly continued their productive labor and were employed in war plants in the United States," he said. "Most of Brazil's increasing land and business rating, industries, freight and steamship traffic, the Japanese were warmly greeted. Brazil, beginning in 1888 when that underpopulated nation desperately needed agricultural workers. Through the years they have become an important, constructive force."

I'm giving my tummy to Poland—To China, too, for two others.

A jaw I am giving to simplify living
For Balkans and Slovaks and Poles.
Those rolls on my waistline are going
To help a cause worthy and great While famine now maritimes are giving Starvation—

This time my reducing can't wait.

that Esther Williams to take dictation in a room in the hotel. I had a typewriter. I got a crank. This is the way everybody was writing as soon as us literary critics were equipped with the newest and latest in writing implements. From what I see in the advertisements, it soon will be compulsory to write without.

However, as you can see by the looks of my paper we are going to have to make a change. The next big thing will be paper that will not get puffy. Then there will have to be something done right away about sitting. It might be all right for a flick to take a head with his tail higher than his head. It might be comfortable for Esther Williams to be a chicken of my kind; it is not practical. It is for me to write. In this position, I was not very good at making Q's even when in a hurry.

Lights Mark Funeral Cars

CHARLESTON, S. C.—A new step toward solution of traffic congestion had been provided here this week after funeral directors decided that the best way to identify funeral cars was to require that they have a light on their headlight. Successful trial run led to general adoption of the plan that all cars in the future will turn on their headlights when leaving the church. Funeral parlor or residence

DO YOU VOTERS KNOW WHAT WE VETERANS WOULD APPRECIATE YOUR HELPING US DO?

We aren't asking for favors. We'd appreciate your working with us to make Marion a better city for you, us, your children, and ours.

We want good schools for the families we're rearing or expect to rear. We haven't had much time to spend at home the past few years but we've thought about it—a lot. And, for our money, good school buildings come high on the list of things we'd like to have in Marion.

Everyone of us whose signature appears here feels exactly this way about it. We hope you feel the same way, too.

WE'D APPRECIATE YOUR VOTING 'FOR' THE SCHOOL BONDS TUESDAY, MAY 7

Programs on the Air

Through the purchase for $3,650,000 of the outstanding stock of the King-Trendle Broadcasting Corp. of Detroit, as announced by Edward J. Noble, chairman of the board, the ABC network is adding to its owned and operated stations. In the deal it obtains the Michigan network made up of nine affiliated stations and two stations, WXYZ of Detroit and WOOD of Grand Rapids, Mich.

ABC plans to hold onto WXYZ, but will sell WOOD to comply with a federal communications commission regulation which limits network ownership of more than one station within a given area. It already owns WJZ of New York, WENR of Chicago, KECA of Los Angeles and KGO of San Francisco.

This is Noble's second heavy outlay in radio. He paid $3,000,000 for ABC when he bought it from RCA in 1942.

Not only will it be Kentucky Derby Day at Churchill Downs tomorrow, but on the air too. CBS is seeing to that. The schedule calls for a 15-minute preview at 4:15 p. m., followed at 5 by a half-hour in which the actual running takes place.

Listening tonight (Friday): NBC—6 Radio Super club; 7 Paul LaValle melody, Anne McKnight; 7:30 Duffy's Tavern; 8:30 Waltz Time; 9 Mystery Theater. . . CBS—7 Henry Aldrich; 7:30 Kate Smith and Lana Turner, 8 Return of It Pays To Be Ignorant; 8:30 Moore and Durante; 9 Danny Kaye and Andrew Sisters. . . The action takes place back in the good old days of 1905.

A 15-minute broadcast of the Ringling Bros. circus at Madison Square garden, New York, which was originally scheduled to be aired from Cass Daley's NBC "Handwagon" program April 23, will be heard Sunday, May 5, instead.

"Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," an English comedy of manners proving that one should never underestimate the power of a woman, featuring Gertrude Lawrence in the leading role, will be presented by the Theater Guild on the Air over ABC on Sunday, May 5, at 9 p. m.

HOUSE IN A DAY TO BE GOAL HERE

Pre-Fabricated Dwelling To Go Up Here Saturday.

Raymond and Robert McDonald of Gallon are opening an agency for the distribution of pre-fabricated frame houses in Marion, Morrow and Crawford counties. To be known as the McDonald Brothers Sales Co., the agency business will be conducted in a model house at 895 East Center street. The house will be erected at this address tomorrow.

One style is offered now but more are expected to be designed once the parent factory, the Strathmore Co. of Detroit, gets into full production. The model which the agents will sell and use as their office is a four room home with bath and front porch. Costing $1,565 delivered, the houses are shipped from the factory in sections and assembled here. Assembly time is one day. The model house to be used as an office will be erected tomorrow if weather permits, the brothers said.

All of the wood structure, including windows and doors, are included in the building. Although they intend to sell largely to contractors, the sales company will maintain a six man crew to erect the houses sold directly to customers.

Plaster, painting, installation of heating, plumbing and wiring systems are not included in the purchase price of the house and must be figured in at extras. Preliminary must be obtained to purchase these homes when limits are to be obtained to and veterans.

Idle Reds Set Record for List of Washouts... CINCINNATI, O., May 3—The Cincinnati Reds, who have been sitting idly by this week while rain canceled their playing schedule, have something to show for their idleness, after all—a record for the number of consecutive games rained out.

The Reds scheduled double header with Pittsburgh last Sunday reached the half-way mark when rain intervened. And on the next scheduled playing days, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, it was the same story. The Boston Braves spent three days in the Queen City without turning a glove.

Reds officials say that string of rain-outs is a record for at last 10 years.
